WOMAN'S CRIES ATTRACTS CROWD

Mrs. Mary Nestle is Hysterical and Shrieks After Returning From Her Son's Funeral.

IS QUIETED BY THE NEIGHBORS

Eccentric Woman's Life History Discloses Pathetic Story—Wealthy But Seemingly Poor.

Cries of "Oh, My Boy, My Boy, My Boy," issuing from the home at 515 West Ninth street last evening about ten o'clock caused a crowd of one hundred people from all over that part of the city to gather to learn the cause of the trouble. An automobile stopped in front of the home and the story was soon started that the woman's screams was because her son had been run down by a machine.

It was found that it was Mrs. Mary M. Nestle, a widow of sixty-six years, who was screaming. Neighbors attempted to quiet her, but it was almost in vain. She was bordering on the hysterical on account of the death of her son, from whose funeral she had just returned. As soon as the aged and eccentric woman could be quieted, she told her pathetic story.

She had just returned from Indianapolis, where her son, George Henry Nestle, thirty-six years old, was buried in Crown Hill cemetery. He was the president of a large mercantile business in Chicago, and leaves a large fortune to his mother, who is his sole survivor, with the exception of two sisters. The son was taken sick one week ago last Friday and was rushed to a Chicago hospital for an operation. He lived only six days, passing away last Thursday morning at six o'clock.

It seems that the heart broken mother arrived at her son's bedside just prior to his death. When she was taken to his room, according to her story, he was all but dead. His mind was wandering and his pleadings were so pathetic that the aged mother had to be taken from his room. He died as she left. Before she left, he gave her a large diamond ring, which Mrs. Nestle says is valued at five hundred dollars. The son's body was shipped to Indianapolis and buried there Friday afternoon. She remained in Indianapolis with her daughters until yesterday and then returned to her cottage here.

Mrs. Nestle's story of her own life, as told to a Daily Republican reporter this morning, is as pathetic as it is peculiar. She answered the call at the door, clad in a simple dress and wearing no shoes. She wore on her hand the large diamond which she says her son placed on her finger as he was dying.

Mrs. Nestle's grandson, Gale Robert Gable, thirteen years old, resides with her. It seems, according to her story, that he, as well as she, is independently wealthy. The boy's father died while in Cuba in the Spanish-American war service and left his son forty thousand dollars. The son now draws fourteen dollars a month pension. The boy's mother died shortly after his father expired. Mrs. Nestle produced her husband's will this morning. She keeps it in an old tin can. It says that his fortune shall descend to the first child who is given his name, Gale. For this reason, the boy has inherited the fortune. Mrs. Nestle, so she says, has an interest in the fortune and can use a certain portion of it during her life.

But Mrs. Nestle apparently does not waste any of the money. She dresses very plainly and simple and works from morning until night, so her nearby neighbors declare. Mrs. Nestle has always been known to that neighborhood as a very peculiar and eccentric woman. They say that she goes about the neighborhood and gathers up old chips and blocks with which to make her fire. Rather than buy clothes for herself and son, it is said that she travels about the neighborhood and begs for cast-off clothing to be worn by her and her grandson.

Mrs. Nestle has two daughters, Mrs. Rose Shelton of Indianapolis, and Mrs. Kate Bolbher of Dayton, Ohio.

PAUL HAUSER SUCCUMBS

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hauser Passed Away.

Paul, the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hauser, died this morning about eight o'clock at the home of his parents in West Ninth street. The little boy had been ill only a few days suffering from pneumonia. The remains will be taken to Dayton, Ohio, tomorrow for burial.

COLD BOILED HAM CONTAINS POISON

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gates Have Close Call From Death by Ptomaine Route.

SON JEAN IS NOT Affected

Ptomaine poisoning almost cost the life of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gates last evening. For almost three hours they were in a serious condition and for a time it was thought they would not recover. Both are greatly improved today, however, and feel little or no effect of the poison. Mr. and Mrs. Gates claim the poisoning was due to some cold boiled ham they had eaten for supper. Their son Jean did not eat any of the ham and was not ill and because of this it is thought the poison was from the meat. Both were taken ill shortly after eating the ham and they probably owe their lives to the quick arrival of a physician.

NOAH MURPHY IS FINED IN COURT

Liveryman Pleads Guilty to Selling Drummer's Wagon That Had Been Mortgaged by Him.

DUKE-CONNOLY CASE CHANGED

Noah Murphy, formerly a liveryman of this city, but later engaged in the same business in Carthage, was fined five dollars and costs in the circuit court this afternoon after a plea of guilty. Murphy was charged in a grand jury indictment with having sold a drummer's wagon that he had already mortgaged. He has been out on bond since the indictment was returned.

The famous Duke-Connolly partition suit, which it was expected would take up most of the time of the court this week, was sent to Decatur county on a change of venue today. The case was set for trial today and arrangements were made this morning for the hearing. Jurors had been called and the work of empanelling a jury was all but started when the motion for a change of venue was filed. There is a large amount of property involved in the suit.

TO ENTERTAIN WITH A CHICKEN DINNER

A. P. Walker Sends Invitations For Jersey Love Feast at Windsor Hotel on Night Preceding Sale.

PROMINENT FANCIERS TO TALK

On the night previous to the seventh annual Jersey cattle sale which will be held Thursday, June 1, A. P. Walker will entertain visiting buyers and other guests with a chicken dinner at the Windsor hotel. In previous years it has been his custom to entertain elaborately at his beautiful country home but he will be prevented from doing that this year. On Wednesday evening the cottage prayer meetings will be held as usual. The places and leaders will be announced tomorrow. There will be no cottage prayer meetings on Friday of this week or Wednesday of next, so that the leaders and places of meeting for one week from next Friday's meetings will be selected at the meeting Wednesday night.

A union prayer meeting of all of the churches in the city will be held at the First Baptist church Thursday evening. The Rev. J. W. Turner will lead the service.

GUNS EXPLODE; TWO ARE INJURED

Walter H. Maple and N. V. Martin Are Hurt as Result of Very Similar Accidents.

GUNS EXPLODE IN LOADING

One is Shot Through the Hand While Bullet Enters Foot of Another.

Two accidents have occurred in the last few days as the result of accidental shootings. Walter Maple, living south of the city, is recovering from the effects of being shot through the foot and it is expected that he will recover from the injury all right. N. V. Martin, son of Eli Martin, of this city is suffering with a painful injury in his hand as the result of bullet from a revolver passing through it.

Young Martin was loading a .38 revolver when the accident happened. He had just filled the chambers of the revolver and had snapped it shut when the gun exploded. The bullet passed through the fleshy part of his right hand. The palm of his hand was badly burned by the powder.

Martin waited until Sunday afternoon before he called on Dr. W. S. Coleman to have the wound dressed. It is thought that he will not suffer any serious results from the injury.

Walter Maple was hurt while loading a rifle. He had planned to go out and shoot some sparrows which were building nests in the eaves of the house and barn. As he snapped the gun shut it was exploded and the bullet lodged in his left foot.

Dr. D. H. Dean was called and dressed the wound. It was necessary to cut the bullet out of Maple's foot. It is thought that he will not feel any bad effects from the injury. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Maple in Jersey City.

LOCAL KNIGHTS HAD BANNER CROWD

EIGHTY-FIVE FROM HERE WENT ON A SPECIAL TRAIN TO KNIGHTSTOWN FOR ASCENSION DAY PROGRAM.

ADDRESS WAS VERY PLEASING

It remained for the Rushville commandery of Knights Templar to make the best showing at the Ascension Day exercises which were held in the Knightstown Methodist church under the auspices of the Knightstown commandery. About eighty-five from this city went on the special train over the Big Four. Representatives from New Castle and Greenfield attended. James E. Watson of New Castle, and W. O. Barnard of New Castle were in attendance.

The sermon of the day was preached in the morning by the Rev. Demetrius Tillastion of Lafayette, grand prelate of the Grand Commandery of the State. Local Knights are high in their praise of the address. A choir of forty children from the Sailors' and Soldiers' Orphans' Home furnished the music. This is the first time that the four commanderies combined in observing the annual event. A picture of all of the Knights was taken after the services. After that a banquet of which 234 partook, was served.

The Empire effect is very prevailing in girl's frocks.

Campaign to Liquidate Earlham College Debt of $50,000 is Meeting With Success.

CANVASSERS SWEEP COUNTIES

Since May Day Pledges Amounting to $5,221 Have Been Obtained by Committees.

The campaign to raise $50,000 with which to liquidate the total indebtedness of Earlham College by commencement day—June 21—has passed the $18,000 mark. Today the cash and pledges in the hands of Morton C. Pearson, chairman of the campaign committee, total $18,256.

Every mail brings pledge cards from the teams of canvassers that are sweeping through the eighteen counties that comprise the ten districts chosen for work during the first two weeks of the campaign. The canvass will be finished in these districts by the last of next week, and then the solicitors will move on into the final ten districts. The last days of the campaign—leading up to June 21—will be devoted to a canvass of the city of Richmond.

The active canvass started Wednesday, May 17. At that time there was a fund of $13,300 pledged by the Senior class, the board of trustees and the faculty of Earlham. May Day yielded $4,000. Since then, the solicitors have turned in pledges amounting to $5,221. Chairman Pearson says the pledges are now coming in at a rate which assures success. The canvass is being centered now in Grant, Howard, Tipton, Clinton, Hamilton, Jay, Randolph, Blackford, Delaware, Wayne, Hancock, Rush, Marion, Parke, Vigo, Clay, Hendricks and Morgan counties. Hamilton, Howard, Hendricks and Rush counties have shown excellent returns in the first days of the canvass.

GEORGE B. COX SAYS HE'S OUT OF POLITICS

Old Boss Retires When Court Vindicates Him.

Cincinnati, May 22.—Declaring that the county prosecutor, a judge of the court of common pleas and, perhaps, also the January grand jury, had conspired to deprive George B. Cox of his constitutional rights, Judge William E. Dickson ordered the indictments against the Republican leader quashed.

Practically Cox is free by this decision of Judge Dickson, and the only hope of the prosecutor is to obtain a reversal of that decision on grounds of error sufficient to allow him to present the alleged facts to some subsequent grand jury for a new indictment. If he fails in his appeal, however, the decision will operate to prevent this in that Judge Dickson found the perjury indictments returned last February and March defective in substance.

Following the court action, Mr. Cox issued a statement announcing his permanent retirement from political affairs.

DEATH TO RATS IS THE SLOGAN

All Indiana to Join in Gibson County Movement.

GENERAL WAR ON THE RODENTS

The Good Result Attending Rat-Killing Day in Gibson County Last Year Has Attracted Attention in All Parts of the State to the Desirability of Such a War, and June 6 Will Be Generally Observed.

Princeton, Ind., May 22.—Gibson county, which last year observed a rat killing day, is getting ready to repeat the performance this year, the date being June 6. It is aimed, if possible, to make the movement state wide and to interest all citizens in the desirability of eradicating rodents.

J. R. Strickland of Owensville, author of the rat bounty bill introduced in the Indiana legislature two years ago by Representative Stevens of Gibson county, and who is the head of the anti-rat crusade in Indiana, has issued a proclamation setting forth the damage wrought by rats and the immense aggregate cost of their yearly maintenance, and asking the citizens of Indiana to declare themselves members of the Anti-Rat society and unite in the common cause of extermination.

He particularly urges that all join hands June 6, recommending that at least half of the day be devoted exclusively to rat killing. He recommends further that the slaughter be followed by a general cleaning up of all trash heaps, lumber piles or decayed flooring that can serve as shelter for rats.

Mr. Strickland has received communications from interested agriculturists, chicken raisers and merchants regarding an extension of the united rat killing movement to other states, and it is probable that several states other than Indiana will as a result have rat killing day this year. The united movement in this county on rat day last year and the war that has since followed on the rodent have already borne excellent results.

AGED NEGRO LEADER VICTIM OF MOB HATE

Rev. Ben Smith Lynched for Wounding Officer.

Swainsboro, Ga., May 22.—At an early hour Sunday morning the Rev. Ben Smith, the aged leader of the negro race in this section, was hanged to the limb of a tree and his body riddled with bullets by a mob of white men because he had wounded Deputy Marshal Canady. Smith had had trouble with his young wife and the latter had complained to the authorities. Deputy Marshal Canady went to the Smith home to arrest the preacher. The latter resisted and shot the officer, inflicting a serious wound.

Smith fled, but was pursued by a posse with bloodhounds and was captured about daylight in a swamp near the town. He was brought back to town and hanged to a tree in sight of his home.

Smith was very old, being white-headed and toothless, but for years his word had been law to the negro population. He was noted for his oratory.

While the mob was chasing Smith, unknown parties dynamited the negro Odd Fellows hall, entirely destroying it.

Smith is the second negro to be lynched in a week, the other being John McLeod, who killed Deputy Sheriff Woods. The lynchings and use of dynamite have terrorized the negroes and many are fleeing. A general exodus is threatened which will work great damage to the planters.

Urge All Farmers to Begin

The War on Weeds at Once

The loss due to weeds on Indiana farms is each year very great indeed. This source of loss should be generally recognized and every effort put forth throughout the year to check it. To fight weeds most successfully requires the very best attention and management. Because of the fact that many weed seeds have the ability of lying dormant in the soil for a number of years before germinating, it requires careful, persistent attention for several successive years to clean up a weedy farm. Yet such cleaning up should be planned for and carried out as far as possible. It is worth while.

Wherever there are weeds in the fields there can always be expected correspondingly lighter crops. The weeds take plant food and moisture from the soil which should be conserved for the crops, and in many other ways they are detrimental.

In order to fight weeds to best advantage they should be studied and their habits understood. When one has an enemy of any kind it is always desirable to learn its name and as much about it as possible so as to be able to take advantage of any weak point. Just so with the weeds.

According to natural duration there are in general three classes of weeds, viz: annual, biennials and perennials.

Annual weeds are those that live naturally but one year. Common examples are: foxtail, field mustard, smartweed, cocklebur, ragweed, etc. Biennial weeds are those that live naturally two years. Common examples of this class are: evening primrose, mullen, wild carrot, teasel, etc. With but few exceptions the annuals and biennials depend entirely on seed production for their perpetuation. Perennial weeds are those that live a number of years or an indefinite period from the same root. Common examples are: dock, buckhorn, Canada thistle, red sorrel, etc. These not only spread by seed but several of this class spread by means of underground root stalks as well, making them by far the most difficult to control, when once introduced.

In fighting weeds it is not only important to avoid introducing their seeds into the fields with seed grain, which is always to be guarded against with the greatest care, but it is important as well to avoid other sources of weed introduction such as from weedy barnyards, fence rows, road sides, ditches and waste places in general. The weeds should be kept well cut throughout the season as far as possible and thus prevented from ripening seeds to be carried to the fields by wind, water and animals.

Weed seed infested manure is another source of weed introduction that should be guarded against. Such manure should be well composted before being applied to the fields in order that the weed seeds in it may be killed.

Aside from avoiding weed introduction in these various ways which is extremely important, the weeds now in the fields should be given even more attention. The exact procedure advisable depends largely on the circumstances. The important thing is to carry out good methods carefully and persistently. Since the annual and biennial weeds reproduce only from seeds, any method most convenient is practicable; such as repeated cutting, or better still very thoroughly cultivating in hood crops or, in some cases, hand pulling or digging. Smother crops are also helpful, these to be followed by clean cultivation in head crops. The cultivation and cutting should continue late in the season to prevent late seeding of weeds, which is so common in corn fields after they are "laid by," and in wheat stubbles after harvest. All early cultivation should be frequent and thorough, and the hoe used liberally where needed in the hood crops. Catch the weeds while they are small and keep them down. The perennials as well as the annuals and biennials, should, of course in every case be prevented from seeding, as far as possible.

Killing of weeds by the use of chemical sprays offers possibilities in certain directions, and this method is being tried out on certain Indiana weeds by the Experiment station.

To fight weeds successfully, then, requires a broad general plan taking in all the factors concerned and such a plan carefully and persistently carried out for a series of years; all sources be avoided as far as possible, and the weeds and perennial roots in the soil killed by painstaking attention. Besides this the soil must be brought to a high state of fertility and proper condition generally so as to favor the best growth of the desired crops, if the weed problem is to be met to the best advantage.

The Botanical department of the Purdue experimental station is anxious to assist in every way possible in a better understanding of farm weeds in the state. Inquiries should be accompanied by good flowering specimens of the weeds in question when possible. The name of the weed and available information will be given. All such inquiries should be addressed to the Botanical Department, Purdue Experiment Station, Lafayette, Ind., and they will be answered as promptly as possible.

The whole anti-trust law turns on the word "unreasonable," of which there are 90,000,000 different definitions.

Now it remains to be seen how much more it will cost the poor consumer to pay the bills for running 60 different oil companies instead of one.

In view of the loop holes in the oil trust decision, we fear some of our boot blacks will get together and agree to do no more five cent shimes.

Mr. Taft denounces club blackballing at Washington. Some men's idea of a club is a collection of fashion plates and clothing store dummies.

People who are decidedly opposed to football should notice that a base ball player was seriously injured in a game at Spiceland and may not live. There is more than one dangerous game, apparently.

Woodrow Wilson denies thinking about the presidency. Then why in thunder isn't he sitting on his front piazza, instead of enduring the hair mattresses and sausage diet of the political one night stand?

The stock market jumped on the decisions. Having made a pile of money by searing the lambs to death, the brokers propose to make a lot more by infusing them with the most reckless gambling spirit.

Six years ago, it was said that while the government would get after the small fry, nobody dared touch the big trusts. The answer was a relentless prosecution of the leading offender, with a complete victory.

There will be no need for the farmers or the people of this city complaining, for a few days at least. The rain of yesterday and today helped the crops and relieved the city residents who were suffering from the water famine. Fortunately it will not be necessary to sprinkle the streets for a few days.

For three years—ever since the adoption of the tariff plank of the Republican platform of 1908—the tariff has been in a state of uncertainty because of the activity of Democratic and insurgent politicians, says the Marion Chronicle. There has been a wide variance of opinion among these revisers as to what should be done to or with the tariff, but all have agreed that it should be changed.

Business will not go forward while there is uncertainty as to tariff, for any schedule might be changed in revision and the effect of the change on prices is an uncertainty. Consumption has been checked by this continued waiting on developments. This has curtailed production, this again has diminished consumption and the endless chain of depression has continued running until the country today faces grave industrial conditions, which are being accentuated by radical proposals pending in congress for course between residents of rural communities and also between rural and urban populations, they facilitate the consolidation of rural schools and the rural free delivery system.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. ALBERT MORRIS

Passed Away Saturday Night at Sexton Sanitorium—Survived by Husband and Two Children.

BURIAL TUESDAY AFTERNOON

Mrs. Rhoda Morris, wife of Albert Morris, living north of the city, died Saturday night at eleven o'clock at the Sexton sanitorium. Mrs. Morris underwent an operation last Monday and little hope was expressed for her recovery. She had been ill a number of months. Mrs. Morris was fifty-four years old and had lived in this county most of her life. She was a member of the Christian church. Besides her husband she is survived by two children, Bessie and James.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock at the Main Street Christian church, conducted by the Rev. Cyrus Yocom. Burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

MIGHT ASK FINLY.

Connersville News: While investigations are in order for almost everything something should be done to ascertain what is becoming of the Rushville water. Superintendent Mahin says he is pumping 90 gallons per capita and yet it is hard for some patrons to coax enough water for a bath out of the faucets. Since Rushville is in the Sixth district Congressman Gray might call for a special committee to look into the matter.

A KIND WORD.

Greensburg Review: An exhibit of the work of the manual training and sewing departments of the Rushville public schools receives a kind word from the local press. The boys' handiwork can be seen by taking a look at the display of match safes, calendar pads, bread-boards, elliptical neck tie racks, foot stools, glove boxes and inlaid hat racks.

SAD TO RELATE, IT'S GONE.

New Castle Courier: They say that there's no need for Rushville to worry over its water plant being a joke as long as Jung stays in business.

Board of Appeals of American Trotting Association Decides Controversy Over Road Race.

SQUABBLE AT THE LAST FAIR

MOTHERS SHOULD HEED THIS

Is Found That Gilbert Austin's Mare, Which Finished First, Was Not Eligible.

It will be remembered that there was some controversy over the result of the road race at the county fair last year, when Gilbert Austin driving "Helen D" finished first, Sam Anderson second, and Albert Capp, third. It was alleged by the contestants that Austin's mare had been trained and was not eligible to the race by reason of the conditions specifying that trained horses were not allowed to enter. Albert Capp contested the payment of the money and the matter was placed before the board of appeals of the American Trotting Association, which found that Sam Anderson won first and that Gilbert Austin's entry was not eligible. The report is as follows:

Albert Capp, Rushville, Indiana, versus Gilbert Austin, Rushville, Indiana, and b. m. "Helen D." Protested first money, road race, Rushville, Indiana, September 1, 1910.

The official record of the meeting at Rushville, Indiana, for 1910, shows that on the first day of September, a road race took place for a purse of $50, half mile heats; the second and third heats of said race, and the race, were won by the bay mare "Helen D" entered, owned and driven by Gilbert Austin of Rushville, Ind. Protest is on the ground that according to the conditions governing the race, the mare, "Helen D" was not eligible to compete as she had been trained by Lon Thompson, a professional trainer for W. J. Pierson, during the season of 1908; that she started in a race at Connersville, Indiana, in the year 1908.

Supported by affidavit of W. J. Pierson, that he owned "Helen D" from 1908 to 1909, trained her for races, and had her in the hands of a trainer of speed horses; that he is informed and believes that "Helen D" was entered and raced at Connersville, Indiana, in 1908, in a race held under the sanction of the American Trotting Association.

Also by affidavit of Frank Lindsay, that he has known Lon Thompson for the past few years and has known him to fill the capacity of both private and public trainer of race horses; that he knows the bay mare, "Helen D" and knows that Lon Thompson professionally trained said mare "Helen D" during the year 1909.

Also by affidavit of Harry Jones that he has known Lon Thompson for several years, knows he is a professional and public trainer of trotting and pacing horses, and knows positively that Lon Thompson trained this mare "Helen D" in the year 1909, and that said "Helen D" started in the Gentlemen's Road Race at Rushville, Indiana, on September 1.

The printed conditions of the Road Race at Rushville, Indiana, September 1, 1910, as furnished by the secretary of the member are that "All horses shall be driven to a cart, that no horse shall be eligible that has ever had the training of a professional driver, and that no professional driver shall be allowed to drive in the race." The secretary states that it was under these printed conditions that the race was started.

The evidence filed is conclusive that the mare "Helen D" had been trained by Lon Thompson during the year 1909, that said Thompson was a professional trainer and the records of the American Trotting Association for the year 1908 show that the mare "Helen D" started at Connersville, Indiana, on September 1st, and also on September 3, 1908.

Ordered, that the protest be sustained and the winnings of the bay mare "Helen D" in the road race at Rushville, Indiana, September 1, 1910, redistributed under the rules.

Act of Last General Assembly Allows Only Twenty-Four Hours to Select Cognomen.

MOTHERS SHOULD HEED THIS

Under Old Law Twenty Days of Grace Were Allowed—36 Hours To Report.

Attention mothers!

Probably only a few people in Rushville or Rush county know that a child must be named within twenty-four hours after its birth. Although it may not be known it is a fact and must be heeded as such. A peep into the acts of the last general assembly will reveal that startling fact. The lawmakers of the State have decreed it and the mothers and fathers must obey.

It makes no difference whether or not it is desired to submit the proposed name of the dear one to some of the relatives. If it takes more than twenty-four hours, it is against the law and decidedly out of order. There will be no more delay in branding the youngsters from now on. Parents must be up and doing. Not only must the child be named in a very brief time, but the report of the birth of the child must be on file with the proper officials within thirty-six hours after the time of the birth.

Under the old law a period of twenty days was given for the reporting of births and many physicians found it hard, or seemed to find it a hard matter to report within that period. Some even went longer.

The new law, however, while it works a hardship in some cases, is for the good of the infant and all concerned. When there was no registration law it was sometimes a hard matter to prove one's identity.

An instance is cited in the claim of three women against the government for a pension. The father of the three had been killed in battle in the civil war. There was no record then and accordingly personal evidence of somebody present was the only thing that could be admitted. To get this evidence it was necessary to go through a lot of red tape and also for a lawyer to make a journey to two western states to get the depositions of two women. They could only testify to being present at the time of the birth of a female infant and could not give names. Now a reference to the record kept in the court house will tell date, and names of child and the parents.

Also by affidavit of Frank Lindsay, that he has known Lon Thompson for the past few years and has known him to fill the capacity of both private and public trainer of race horses; that he knows the bay mare, "Helen D" and knows that Lon Thompson professionally trained said mare "Helen D" during the year 1909.

WOMEN'S WOES

Rushville Women Are Finding Relief at Last.

It does seem that women have more than their share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing down pains; they must stoop over, when stoop means torture. They must walk and bend the work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Sick kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ of the body. Keep the kidneys well and much suffering is saved. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. William Merrill, 332 W. Fourth St., Rushville, Ind., says: "For some time I suffered from a weak and painful back and I was also subject to headaches. I had but little energy and the simplest of my household duties was a burden. My husband finally procured Doan's Kidney Pills for me at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s Drug Store and since taking them, my condition has been better in every way. I am grateful to Doan's Kidney Pills for their good work." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Ordered, that the protest be sustained and the winnings of the bay mare "Helen D" in the road race at Rushville, Indiana, September 1, 1910, redistributed under the rules.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

AMUSEMENTS

The Vaudet will have three good reels of pictures for tonight. The first film, a Powers, entitled "A Gamble With Love" is said to be a pretty romance of the West. The Nestor film, "The Truth," is a drama full of sensational events and is said to be exceptionally well acted. The last picture is an Itala, "The Supreme Recognition." Special music will be a feature.

If the weather is favorable, J. Q. Thomas will entertain the members of the Men's Bible class of the First Presbyterian Sunday school at the Star Grand airdome this evening.

When the arrangements were made, the manager did not know the names of the films and the members of the class agreed to "take a chance." The airdome was opened Saturday evening and enjoyed good crowds. It has been decided to show in the theater and the class will be entertained there.

On account of the weather the Star Grand will show in the theater tonight. The first picture is a Powers drama, entitled "Come Back to Erin." The second picture is a Thanhouser drama entitled "Charity of the Poor," a story with a striking theme and moral.

CHAPTER V.

The One Way.

Keith said nothing for some moments, staring up at the light stealing in through the window grating, his mind once again active. The eyes of the black man had the patient look of a dog as they watched; evidently he had cast aside all responsibility, now that this other had come. Finally Keith spoke slowly:

"We are in much the same position, Neb, and the fate of one is liable to be the fate of both. This is my story"—and briefly as possible, he ran over the circumstances which had brought him there, putting the situation clear enough for the negro's understanding, without wasting any time upon detail. Neb followed his recital with bulging eyes, and an occasional exclamation. At the end he burst forth:

"Yo' say dar was the two ob dem white men murdered—one an ol' man wid a gray beard, an' de odder bout thirty? Am dat it, Massa Jack, an' dey had to span ob mules, an' a runnin' hoss?"

"Yes."

"An' how far out was it?"

"About sixty miles."

"Oh, de good Lawd!" and the negro threw up his hands dramatically. "Dat suitt'n am my outfit! Dat am Massa Waite an' John Sibley."

"You mean the same men with whom you came here from Independence?"

Neb nodded, overcome by the discovery.

"But what caused them to run such a risk?" Keith insisted. "Didn't they know the Indians were on the war path?"

"Sho'; I heard 'em talkin' bout dat, but Massa Waite was jest boun' foh to git movin'. He didn't 'pear to be 'fraid ob no Injuns; reck'ned dey'd neber stop him, dat he knew eb'ry chief on de plains. I reck'n dat he did, too."

"But what was he so anxious to get away for?"

"I dunno, Massa, I done heerd 'em talk some 'bout dey plans, an' 'bout some gal dey wanted ter fin', but I didn't git no right sense to it. De Gin'ral, he was a might sp'ill man."

"The General? Whom do you mean? Not Waite?"

"John Sibley done called him dat."

Then Keith remembered—just a dim, misty thread at first, changing slowly into a clear recollection. He was riding with despatches from Longstreet to Stonewall Jackson, and had been shot through the side. The first of Jackson's troops he reached was a brigade of North Carolinians, commanded by General Waite—General Wills Waite. He had fallen from his horse at the outposts, was brought helpless to the General's tent, and another sent on with the papers. And Mrs. Waite had dressed and bandaged his wound. That was where he had seen that woman's face before, with its haunting familiarity. He drew the locket from beneath his shirt, and gazed at the countenance revealed, with new intelligence. There could be no doubt—it was the face of her who had cared for him so tenderly in that tent at Manassas before the fever came and he had lost consciousness. And that, then, was Wills Waite lying in that shallow grave near the Cimarron Crossing, and for whose death he had been arrested. 'Twas a strange world, and a small one. What a miserable ending to a life like his—

a division commander of the Army of Northern Virginia, a Lieutenant-Governor of his state. What strange combination of circumstances could ever have brought such a man to this place, and sent him forth across those Indian-scouted plains? Surely nothing ordinary. And why should those border desperadoes have followed, through sixty miles of desolation, to strike him down? It was not robbery, at least in the ordinary sense. What then? And how was "Black Bart" involved? Why should he be sufficiently interested to swear out a warrant, and then assist in his arrest? There must be something to all this not apparent upon the surface—some object, some purpose shrouded in mystery. No mere quarrel, no ordinary feud, no accident of meeting, no theory of commonplace robbery, would account for the deed, or for the desperate efforts now being made to conceal it.

Some way, these questions, thus surging upon him, became a call to live, to fight, to unravel their mystery. The memory of that sweet-faced woman who had bent above him when the fever began its mastery, appealed to him now with the opportunity of service. He might be able to clear this, bring to her the truth, save her from despair, and hand over to justice the murderers of her husband. It was up to him alone to accomplish this—no one else knew what he knew, suspected what he suspected. And there was but one way—through escape. To remain there in weak surrender to fate could have but one ending, and that swift and sudden. He had no doubt as to "Black Bart's" purpose, or of his ability to use the "Red Light" outfit as desired. The whole plan was clearly evident, and there would be no delay in execution—all they were waiting for was night, and a lax guard. He glanced about at the walls of the room, his eyes grown hard, his teeth clenched.

"Neb," he said shortly, "I guess that was your outfit all right, but they were not killed by Indians. They were run down by a gang from this town—the same fellows who have put you and me in here. I don't know what they were after—that's to be found out later,—but the fight you put up at the camp spoiled their game for once, and led to your arrest. They failed to get what was wanted in Carson, and so they trailed the party to the Cimarron Crossing. Then I got on their track, and fearing the result, they've landed me also. Now they'll get rid of us both as best they can. These fellows won't want any trial—that would be liable to give the whole trick away—but they have got to put us where we won't talk. There is an easy way to do this, and that is by a lynching bee. Do you get my drift, Neb?"

The whites of the negro's eyes were very much in evidence, his hands gripping at the bench on which he sat.

"Fo' de Lawd, yes, Massa Jack, I sho' does. I corroborates de whole thing."

"Then you are willing to take a chance with me?"

"Willin'! Why, Massa Jack, I've overjoyed; I ain't gwine leave ye no mo'. I'sh' gwine ter be yo' nigger. What yo' gwine ter do?"

Keith ran his eyes over the walls, carefully noting every peculiarity.

"We'll remain here quietly just as long as it is daylight, Neb," he replied finally, "but we'll try every board and every log to discover some way out. Just the moment it grows dark enough to slip away without being seen we've got to hit the prairie. Once south of the Arkansas we're safe, but not until then. Have you made any effort to get out?"

The negro came over to him, and bent down.

"I was layin' on a board what I'd worked loose at one end," he whispered hoarsely, "back ob de bench, but I couldn't jerk it out widout something ter pry it up wid."

"Where is it?"

It was a heavy twelve-inch plank, part of the flooring, and the second from the side-wall. Keith managed to get a grip next to the black fingers, and the two pressed it up far enough for the white man to run one arm through the opening up to his shoulder and grope about below.

"There's a two-foot space there," he reported, as they let the board settle silently down into position. "The back part of this building must be set up on piles. I reckon we could pry that plank up with the bench, Neb, but it's liable to make considerable racket. Let's hunt about first for some other weak spot."

They crept across the floor, testing each separate board, but without discovering a place where they could exert a leverage. The thick planks were tightly spiked down. Nor did the

A GREAT PHYSICIAN

What He Said of Germs That Cause Disease.

M. Pasteur, sometimes called the Greatest Physician, often said "I believe that we shall one day rid the world of all diseases that are caused by germs."

Of all the diseases caused by germs, catarrh is one of the most persistent and loathsome. Catarrh can be cured, but only by destroying the germs.

Breathe Hyomei (pronounce it High-o-me) and cure catarrh by killing the germs. The Hyomei method is the only sensible method, because you breathe the highly antiseptic and germ killing air directly over the entire membrane, infested with catarrh germs.

Hyomei will cure catarrh. There may be some complicated cases where it will fail, but the chances are ten to one in its favor, and the sufferer from catarrh takes no risk, because Hyomei is a guaranteed remedy, and if it doesn't cure, F. B. Johnson will refund the purchase price.

Hyomei will also give instant relief and cure in bronchitis, coughs, colds and croup. A complete outfit, including hard rubber pocket inhaler, costs only $1.00. If you now own a Hyomei inhaler you can get a bottle of Hyomei for 50 cents.

walls offer any better encouragement. Keith lifted himself to the grated window, getting a glimpse of the world without, but finding the iron immovable, the screws solidly imbedded in the outside wood. He dropped to the floor, feeling baffled and discouraged.

"It will have to be the plank back of the bench, Neb," he announced briefly, wiping the perspiration from his face. "Get down there, and work it as loose as you can without making any noise, while I keep my ear to the door and listen for any interruption."

They took turns at this labor, discovering a loose nail which gave an opening purchase at the crack, thus enabling the insertion of a small wooden block, and insuring space for a good finger grip when the right time came.

A sleepy Mexican brought in their dinner, and set it down on the bench without a word, but on his return with supper, the marshal accompanied him, and remained while they ate, talking to Keith, and staring about the room. Fortunately, the single window was to the west, the last rays of the sun struck the opposite wall, leaving the space behind the bench in deep shadow. Whatever might be the plans of "Black Bart" they took turns at this labor, discovering a loose nail which gave an opening purchase at the crack, thus enabling the insertion of a small wooden block, and insuring space for a good finger grip when the right time came.

Pepper remembers that the Indian boy or boys walked and talked when alive. The Indians were reticent about them, or him, and little was known of him outside of the tribe to which he belonged. It is supposed that the "twins," as they were called by the white people who had seen them, wandered away and died in the cave. Pepper says they have been missing nearly ten years, or at least it has been that long since he saw them alive.

CASE LIKE THE SIAMESE TWINS

Mystery of Indian Boy's Disappearance Explained.

HAD BEEN MISSING TEN YEARS

Body Found in a Cave in Oklahoma Has Two Heads, Four Arms and Four Feet—Boy Came Across It While Hunting Rabbits.

The mummified body of a child was recently found in a cave near Okmulgee, Okla., by Emmons Lowe, a farmer boy. The body has two heads, four arms, four legs and four feet and is that of a person nearly five feet tall. The arms are all of the same length and reach far below the knees.

The Lowe boy found the mummy while hunting rabbits. He followed his dog on the trail of a rabbit into the cave and while groping around came upon the body. The flesh on the bones has dried, and apparently there has been no decay.

Old residents in the vicinity of the cave say the body is that of an Indian boy who has been missing several years. It was known to them that there was such a boy among the Indians. He was kept out of sight as much as possible by the other members of the tribe to which he belonged, but had been seen by a number of white persons.

John Pepper of Okmulgee said he had seen the two headed Indian boy a number of times. The monstrosity was in reality two persons with one body, he said. The mummy is that of two persons, apparently, even the shoulders of each being separate and perfect, the body very wide and the lower limbs fully developed. The bodies appear to be joined together below the shoulders and from there down to the hips. Physicians have examined the body and say there were really two persons or two bodies and that they were grown together and could not have been separated even by a surgical operation.

They took turns at this labor, discovering a loose nail which gave an opening purchase at the crack, thus enabling the insertion of a small wooden block, and insuring space for a good finger grip when the right time came.

EVE A SUFFRAGETTE.

Dominated Adam and Caused Him to Eat the Apple, Says Professor.

The original suffragette, according to Dr. Paul Haupt, professor of Semitic languages in Johns Hopkins university, was Eve, who dominated Adam and caused him to eat of the forbidden fruit.

"Some people think that when the Lord created Eve he took not only a rib from Adam, but also the backbone," says Dr. Haupt.

Dr. Haupt apparently subscribes to this view. His theory is set forth in a paper which he read before the American Philosophical Society in Philadelphia. For his authority Dr. Haupt quotes the Bible. In Genesis xvi, 7, he finds the quotation:

"And unto thee shall be his desire, and thou shalt rule over him." The context seems to have no relation to this quotation, and Dr. Haupt intimates that it was interpolated probably by a woman who knew her rights, for in the preceding chapter Dr. Haupt finds that the Lord pronounced a curse on Eve, saying:

"I will greatly multiply thy sorrow and thy sighing. In pain thou shalt bear children. Nevertheless thy desire shall be to thy husband, and he shall rule over thee."

Dr. Haupt says: "I have discovered that the story of the fall of man and the story of Cain and Abel were written in parallel columns. In the space between commentaries were made. Some woman or some man under the influence of woman wrote this suffragette gloss in the space between the columns. Later it crept into the column containing the story of Cain and Abel, and there it is found today."

FOR A NATIONAL SONG.

School Children Will Contribute to a Prize Fund.

The Chicago school board has undertaken a plan which its members hope will provide the country with a new and distinctive national song. Dr. J. B. McFetrich, president of the board of education, and Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of schools, have arranged for each one of the 300,000 school children in Chicago to contribute a cent toward a prize for the successful competitor in a contest to supply a national song.

The only restriction to be made by the board is that the song shall not be a war song.

BOY WAS LEFT IN CHARGE OF JAIL

Mob Fooled Him and Got Out Six Negroes.

THEN SHOT THEM TO PIECES

Prisoners Had Been Taken From Tallahassee to Lake City, Fla., to foil a mob, which later followed in automobiles and by ruse secured the Negroes and riddled their bodies with bullets.

Lake City, Fla., May 22.—Suspected of complicity in the murder of a prominent citizen, six negroes were taken from the jail early Sunday morning, carried to the suburbs of the city, tied to trees and riddled with bullets. The negroes were gotten out of the jail by ten men who claimed to be officers and who presented to the seventeen-year-old son of the sheriff a fake telegram which ordered him to release the negroes. The ten men had autos, in which they placed the negroes, and then sped to the outskirts, where other members of the mob were waiting.

The negroes were bound to trees, and at a given signal the members of the mob, some thirty in all, opened fire with rifles and pistols. Volley after volley was fired, until the negroes were literally cut to pieces.

When citizens went to the scene, about 7 o'clock, they found it almost impossible to identify the dead men, as all semblance of humanity had been shot away. The victims were Man Morris, Jerry Holmes, Samuel Phillips, Henry Jones, Zeke Chandler and Tom Billups.

The negroes had been brought from Tallahassee to foil a mob which had threatened to lynch them. They were accused of killing Robert B. Smith, a rich lumberman of Leon county, and of murdering two other white men. It is said that the when who lynched the negroes came from Tallahassee over 100 miles away, and it is claimed that they made the trip Saturday night in autos to avoid creating suspicion.

They evidently knew that the sheriff of this county was away and that only his seventeen-year-old son was in charge of the jail. The message which the leader of the mob showed to the boy purported to be from the sheriff of Leon county.

BURIED BENEATH AN AEROPLANE

French Minister of War Killed At Essey.

PREMIER IS FATALLY INJURED

Dreadful Accident Mars the Start of the Paris-to-Madrid Race, an Intractable Machine Plunging Into Crowd of Distinguished Spectators, Instantly Killing Minister Berteaux and Fatally Injuring Premier Monis.

Odessa, May 22.—An aeroplane fell in a crowd at Kursh Sunday, injuring 100 persons, of whom five are dead.

Paris, May 22.—As the result of the start of the Paris-to-Madrid aviation race at the drillground at Issy Les Moulineaux, at dawn Sunday, Minister of War Henri Berteaux was killed and Antoine Ernest Monis, premier and minister of the interior, is thought to be dying.

In the cold of the morning 50,000 French, with the holiday spirit and in holiday attire, awaited the start. The first away was Naval Lieutenant Conneau. He was followed by Roland G. Garros, who has just returned from flying in the United States, who in turn was followed by Gilbert. All were using Bleriot machines.

The crowd was cheering the men who had got away when in the clearing morning light Train, the new aviator, was to be seen approaching the drillground with a passenger, Bonnier, in his machine. He was flying steel monoplane built and patented by himself, and as he circled to try his motor it was to be seen that something was wrong. As Train arose the premier, the minister of war and the other notables, not being able to see from the stand of honor, moved nearer to the starting line. The crowd followed. The crush was tremendous and it was necessary to call for another squadron of cuirassiers to ride upon the field and keep back the throng.

Train was shutting off his motor and preparing to alight directly over the horsemen as they rode upon the field. In order to avoid striking the cuirassiers, Train shot into the air again. He was unable to see the group of notables just on the other side of the cavalry. Having cleared the cuirassiers, Train slanted toward the earth again and dashed headlong into the crowd beyond.

Minister of War Berteaux was dead ahead of the machine. The propeller caught his right arm, which he had raised to fend off the blow, and in a second had torn the member from the body. M. Berteaux was killed instantly.

Premier Monis was buried beneath the machine and was unconscious when lifted from the ground. Both bones of his right leg and all the bones of his nose were broken, his scalp was frightfully torn, and upon examination it was found that he was suffering from internal injuries in the abdominal region. He was carried at once to his home.

Premier Monis is reported to be bearing up bravely and though suffering intensely he nevertheless insisted on signing several urgent state papers, and although the race was ordered discontinued, Monis commanded that it go on. M. Monis is sixty-five years old and his recovery, though possible, is thought doubtful. Official Paris is enveloped in gloom. The fetes in honor of the king of Servia, who was to have come today, were declared off and the decorations removed from the ministry, the war office and the foreign office, where King Peter was to be domiciled. King Peter, upon receiving word of the accident, telegraphed his sympathy and announced that he would postpone his visit.

A decree appointing M. Jean Cruppi as minister of war has been issued. In the meantime the army has been ordered into month of mourning. General Roque, commanding the French aviation corps, expresses the opinion that aviation meetings are meaningless and most dangerous. He remarks that while the meeting at Issy has plunged France in mourning, five were killed at Odessa on the same day, and all the deaths were brought about in an almost similar manner.

Spent Money in Vain.

Laporte, Ind., May 22.—The effort to find oil or gas in northern Indiana has been abandoned by the capitalists who have had drills working in LaPorte county. One drill was sent to a depth of nearly 2,000 feet without finding trace of either oil or gas. It is figured that $10,000 has been expended in experimental wells in this country.

The Lure of the West.

Evansville, Ind., May 22.—A fifteen-year-old son of a former policeman is under arrest for robbing the office of the Home bottling works of nearly $30. The lad told the police he and two companions had planned to take the money and go west to "fight the Indians."

Second Mistrial in Schill Case.

Brookville, Ind., May 22.—The second trial of William Schill, charged with murder of his father, Leo Schill, resulted in a disagreement. The jury, after twenty hours' deliberation, stood five for conviction and seven for acquittal.

Announcement

We take pleasure in announcing that hereafter The Ladies' Home Journal Patterns and Style Books may be had at this store.

The progressive spirit of this store is again made manifest in the adoption of the Ladies' Home Journal Patterns.

These Patterns are as superior to all others as electric light is to candle light.

They present the most advanced styles, are designed by people who have made this art a life study and who keep in constant touch with the leading fashion centers.

They are perfect fitting—each size being drafted—are economical of material and yet the patented Guide-Chart which goes with each pattern simplifies the cutting and fitting that the home dressmaker can retain the style of the design as has never before been possible with any paper pattern.

Pugilist Returns to Scene of His First Fight in Columbus and Delivers Lecture.

PHYSICAL CULTURE IS SUBJECT

Boxes Four Rounds With Jack Rush, the Man Who "Discovered" Prize Fighter.

After twenty-one years of a pugilistic career which was crowned with success, and a later career beset with more or less reverses, Kid McCoy, who claims Columbus as the birthplace of the ambition of his youth, returned Saturday night and lectured to a packed house at Crump's theater on physical culture, etc.

At the close of the lecture he boxed four rounds with Jack Rush, chief engineer at the Columbus water works, and the man who "discovered" McCoy and fought him his first fight.

McCoy, when a youth, ran away from his home in this county, and, with the idea that there was a making of a great fighter in him, he went to Columbus and applied to Jack Rush, then a fireman, who was promoting prize fights. McCoy, who was then Norman Selby, developed rapidly, and in due time he bested Jack Rush, his trainer, in a ten-round go.

His first ring battle was fought with Jimmy Casey at the Schinnerer Gardens in Columbus, and what he did and what he has done since that time is sporting history, as well known to the world as to the residents of the city in which he was taught the rudiments of the fighting game by Jack Rush.

APPROVE OF WORK OF COMMITTEES

Ministers Discuss Coming Revival at Regular Meeting of the Association This Afternoon.

OTHER DETAILS ARE ARRANGED

The sole topic at the regular meeting of the Rushville Ministerial Association this afternoon was the Orr revival meeting which will be held soon. The ministers placed the stamp of approval on the work of the various committees in charge of the work and the pastors expressed themselves as being well pleased with the progress of organization. It was arranged that each church should furnish five ushers for the revival. It was also unanimously agreed that no members who were converted during the meeting should be received to any of the churches until the revival closed. It was reported at the meeting that arrangements had been made for Evangelist Orr to stay at the Windsor hotel while in the city.
